Hey Luke,
    Please send me all of the measurements that we wrote down for all parts of the circle room - we should begin the process of selecting and narrowing down what we suggest to Mr. Coburn for a door, ceiling fan, light, switch, paint, etc.
Also, once we know what materials we plan to use, we should begin to write letters to Lowes and Home Depot to ask for donations of materials.  Don't send anything out to them yet, but run all communications past me.

Additionally, send me some drafts of emails to JC's Things and Dragon Antiques that tell them the list of things we have for sale that I sent you, as well as asking them which Saturday morning or Tuesday evening they could come by to bid on things.

~ Dad

What about the ceiling downrod length?

I think we agreed that to be half the height of the floor to ceiling height, 65 inches or more.

I believe that we wrote down the measurement for the downrod - check your notes.  Did we say at least 6 feet long, and at most 7 feet long for the downrod?

We didn't write it down, but 6 feet sounds good enough.
