Hello Scoutmaster Schultz,

I would like to ask permission to request help from the Troop to assist with my Eagle Scout Project this Saturday, 8/17. My plan is to have one final workday that I can get help from the Scouts with the cleanup of the American Legion attic - the construction work will be done by my dad, myself, and my papa (who is a licensed contractor). We would be working from 9am until we finish the job, and the items we would be working on are:

- remove all remaining trash from attic; condense, collapse, chop, put in dumpster
- sweep and vacuum attic; pick up and remove any nails, screws, etc. from floor
- moving the large shelving units from the circle/rotunda room into the attic area where Mr. Coburn would like them to be placed

I am planning to meet with Mr. Coburn on Tuesday evening during the troop meeting to ask him about any remaining items that he definitely wants us to dispose of in the attic. There is one slight "wild-card", which is the pool table. If he does insist that we dispose of it, we will disassemble the pool table to break it down into the smallest possible pieces so that it can be brought down to the dumpster.

Once the attic space has been completely cleaned up, my dad, myself, and my papa will begin the repair work to the floor where the ductwork was coming up out of the floor and also the window where the smoke-eater was exhausting outside.

Please let me know if it is ok to request assistance from the Troop this Saturday 8/17 starting at 9am, and I can draft a shorter email requesting help to forward along to the troop. Thanks!

Yours in Scouting,
Luke Killeffer

Luke,

I'm not sure this Saturday will work, for a few reasons. Most importantly, the Legion will be preparing for the annual chicken bake, which is on Sunday. We need Scouts to come on both Saturday and Sunday to set up two dining tarps. I'm also trying to schedule the planning conference for this weekend. Adding your project to that is asking a lot of our Scouts. The PLC is Monday night. Let me see what comes from that, and then talk to me on Tuesday night.
