Hi Ken -

Luke and I are planning to come to the American Legion tomorrow morning to finish up Luke's Eagle project. We need to put another coat of paint on the door and the surrounding trim area, mount the door, and we were also going to bring the shop-vac to do some cleanup of both the attic side as well as the circle room. Will somebody be around to let us into the Legion?

Also, we believe that this should be the last workday that we need to finish the project 100%, so we are hoping that we could have a walkthrough inspection with you - are you around at all tomorrow morning? If not, perhaps we could have the inspection at Tuesday night's Troop meeting. Luke is very keen to complete his Eagle Project workbook and submit it quickly to get on the schedule for a Board of Review. I don't have the figures in front of me, but Luke will also be making a cash donation to the American Legion because we were able to raise more money than the supplies and materials cost.

Best,
David Killeffer

Good Morning Scout Master Schultz,

I wanted to let you know that I just met with Luke and could not be more pleased with the outstanding job he did on his Eagle Scout Project! What a transformation! In the many years of watching Scouts work on their projects, I don't think I've come across anyone with the determination, dedication, and work ethic that I have seen in Luke. Over the past several months he took a giant mess and turned it into a functional space. On behalf of the Abington American Legion, I want to express our sincere gratitude for a job well done! Luke is deserving of becoming an Eagle Scout!

Best Regards,

Ken Coburn
Commander,
Abington American Legion (Post 112)
